The market reaction was purely driven by sentiment

- The broad equity market was immunized by the disclose of BCG prosecution. Instead, the other drivers (investor sentiment, global events, intrinsic value and economic growth prospects) much weighed on the VNINDEX movement.
- However, the price performance of the relevant partners in the BCG ecosystems (underwriter, loan providers, shareholders, subsidiaries) steeply crashed on the Monday trading. While seeking for more information, we believe that the market sentiment seems overreacted.
- We do not see how the BCG woe could attack the corporate bond market since the scale is immaterial compared to the Van Thinh Phat and Tan Hoang Minh scandalous events.
