VN30 performance

The VN30Index extended its rally for the fourth consecutive session, advancing by 0.92% to close at 1,543 points. Notably, 23 out of 30 index constituents posted gains, led by TPB (+6.43%), SSI (+5.55%), VCB (+4.24%), VRE (+3.88%), and VHM (+3.28%). ## VN30 Future chart: Continued uptrend

On the daily chart, the contract registered a third consecutive breakout session, confirming the short-term uptrend. The increasing volume further supports this bullish signal. However, after three strong sessions, the market may experience a short-term pullback before resuming its upward trajectory.

In the broader context, the long-term uptrend remains intact as the contract continues to close above the 10- and 20-period moving averages. The 1,500-point level will serve as near-term support, while the 1,560-1,580-point zone will act as a notable resistance area.

Technical strategy

Although the market has delivered three consecutive gains, a short-term consolidation may occur before further advances. Investors are advised to monitor market developments closely and wait for appropriate signals to initiate new long positions.
