KIS Viet Nam Securities Corporation

Chart of the day

18 Aug 2025

Liquidity remains elevated

Market performance

The market maintained its upward momentum with a second consecutive week of gains; over the past 10 weeks, the market has advanced in 8 of them.

Chart: Liquidity remains elevated

The VNIndex continued to break out and set new highs over the past week, signaling a positive outlook for the uptrend. Notably, the uptrend is supported by strong capital inflows, as liquidity has remained high for the past three weeks. In addition, the index continues to close above its 10-, 20-, and 50-day moving averages.

However, some volatility may occur this week, as the index experienced a pullback in the final session of last week and market fluctuations have been relatively high over the past three weeks.

The short-term resistance level is in the 1,680-1,700 range, while strong support is at around 1,600 points - aligning with the 10-day moving average.

→ The short-term uptrend remains intact as the VN-Index has established a new high zone. Therefore, investors may continue to maintain their current equity exposure.

Technical strategy: Maintain high equity allocation

In this context, investors should maintain their existing equity holdings and take advantage of short-term corrections to open additional positions.
